ALLOPLASTIC TMJ IMPLANT MANUFACTURER TO BE FEATURED IN BODY WORLDS 2 EXHIBIT AT DENVER MUSEUM OF NATURE & SCIENCE.

The Rocky Mountain TMJ Surgical Conference (RMTMJSC), an online web-based information portal dealing with temporomandibular joint (TMJ) disorders and trauma, announced today that highly acclaimed anatomical exhibition “Body Worlds 2” will display TMJ implants produced by TMJ Implants, Inc. The exhibit is scheduled to visit the Denver Museum of Nature & Science (DMNS) from March 10 to July 23, 2006. Over 250,000 visitors are expected to attend during the course of the local exhibit.

Robert W. Christensen, DDS, President and Founder of TMJ Implants, Inc. states, “We are pleased to be able to support the educational mission of the DMNS with this donation. This show, featuring real human bodies preserved through a highly technical process, promises to impact audiences around the world.”

TMJ Implants, Inc. (TMJI) is the recognized world leader in the design and manufacture of alloplastic implants for the treatment of temporomandibular joint disorders and injuries. Headquartered in Golden, Colorado (USA), TMJI serves surgeons, patients, and hospitals around the world.
